

People urged to support deaf and hearing-impaired children by dressing up on Loud Shirt Day

MEGAN MILLER, Herald Sun

August 23, 2018 6:00pm

 Subscriber only

SPEAK volumes for deaf and hearing-impaired children by donning garish garb for Loud Shirt Day.

 Hearing-impaired kids Marco, Anna (pink) and Zoe (yellow). Picture: Mark Stewart

Do your bit by collecting money for the privilege of wearing a loud shirt, or host your own fundraising party.

loudshirtday.com.au

